MARY T. HOWE, Librarian

457 NORTH MAIN STREET DECATUR, ILLINOIS

May 15, 1965

The Honorable Ellis B. Arnold, Mayor and Council Members of the City of Decatur, Illinois

Gentlemen:

The text of the Annual Report for the Decatur Public Library for the fiscal year, May 1, 1964 through April 30, 1965 is submitted for your consideration.

The Report of Examination of the Accounts made by Murphy, Jenne and Jones, certified public accountants, is included in this report.

We are grateful for the cooperation between the City Council, the Board of Directors, and the Staff during the past year.

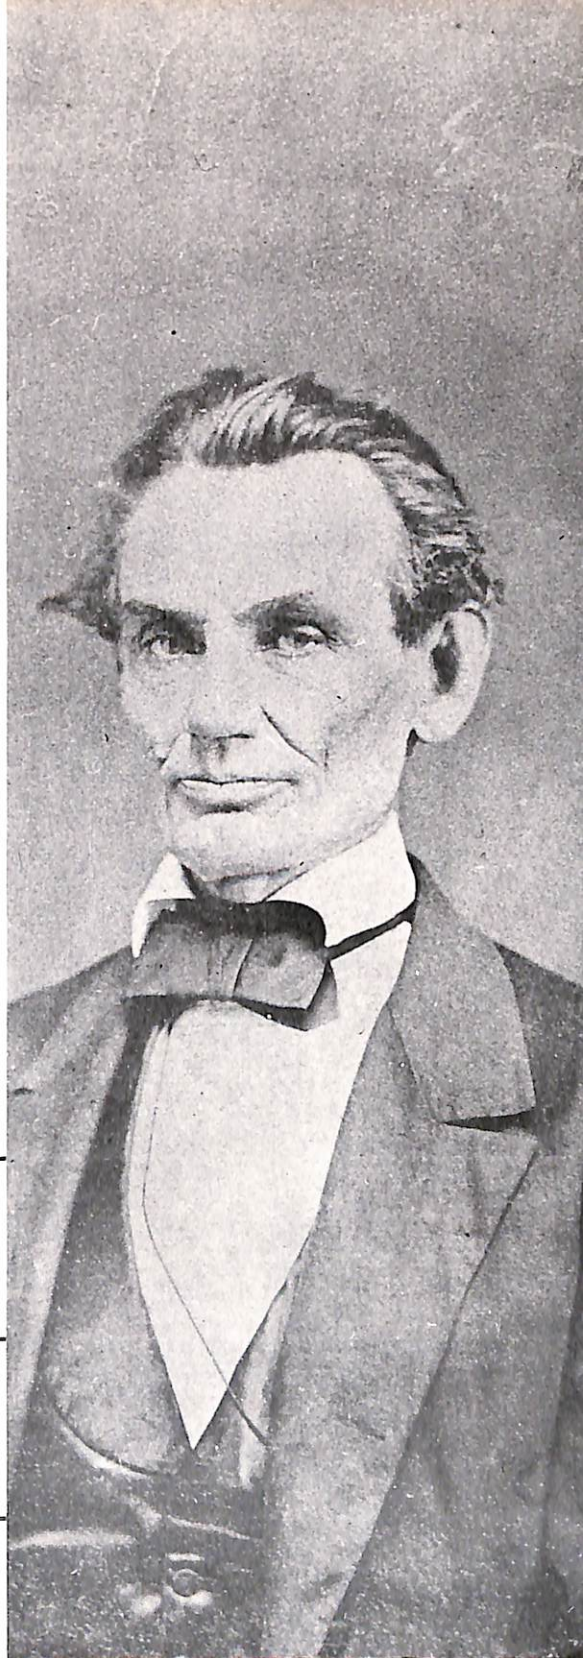

You continued support and interest are asked for this coming year.

Yours very sincerely,

Francis H. Hart, President
Board of Directors
Decatur Public Library

DECATUR PUBLIC LIBRARY / DECATUR, ILLINOIS

98TH ANNUAL REPORT, MAY 1964 - APRIL 1965

THE BARNWELL PHOTOGRAPH OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

On December 12, 1947, Miss Grace Barnwell, daughter of the photographer, Edward A. Barnwell, formally presented this picture of Abraham Lincoln to the Decatur Public Library. Prior to that time, it had not been published and its existence was generally unknown.

Carl Sandburg and Jay Monaghan, state historian, authenticated the picture.

This unique photograph now hangs in the Lincoln Room in the Main Library and may be seen at any time when the Library office is open.

Lincoln was in Decatur for the State Republican convention, held in the Wigwam, May 10, 1860. The Barnwell photograph was taken the day before on May 9, 1860.

The Decatur Review of 1906 describes the circumstances surrounding the taking of the photograph: "That day, there was not much serious thought in Decatur that the man would become President in a short time, and yet Lincoln was the biggest man in town. It was a way he had about him, even though a big office for him did not seem imminent, yet he was great and known of all men to be so. It was the first big state convention ever held in Decatur. E. A. Barnwell, a photographer here, then, wanted a picture of the biggest (in stature) man at the gathering. So he went out and hunted up Lincoln and made him sit for a picture. Lincoln was told the next day he would be indorsed for the presidency."

TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE DECATUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

The ninety-eighth annual report of the Decatur Public Library for the fiscal year 1964-65 is submitted for your information.

The summaries and comments are presented by the Division Chiefs and the Department Heads.

Pictures are included to tell the story of our activities during the past year. Most of these photographs were taken throughout the fiscal year by staff members. The other pictures should be credited to Roger Turner and the Herald and Review newspaper.

Everyone of the staff has tried to overcome the space handicaps and constant changes that were made to compensate for the illnesses and the breakdown of the 1955 bookmobile. Many worked long hours at home and with a dedication seldom seen in other situations.

The Librarian appreciates the assistance rendered by the Board of Directors and the City Government together with the staffs of the Illinois State Library, the Rolling Prairie Libraries, and the Decatur Public Library, during this difficult year.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary T. Howe

EXHIBITS. During the year, 283 exhibits were arranged at the Main Library, Evans and Dill Branches and on the Bookmobiles.

The patrons seemed to be most interested in photography, engineering, art and the holiday displays.

Almost all of the inside exhibits were correlated with the outside street cases and with the annotated lists in the Sunday Herald-Review.

Engineer's Week was highlighted by an unusually interesting exhibit of engineering instruments. There were three displays in commemoration of the last days of Abraham Lincoln and the end of the Civil War Centennial with the Last Assembly. Many other areas were visually treated, such as, Social Security, the Rockhounds and Fun with the Family.

The Library booth at the International Fair in the Masonic Temple focused attention on matters of International concern from cookery to diplomacy and attracted much attention.

Helen Spittler, Staff Artist

LIBRARY OFFICE. The Library Office is a clearing house for many special as well as routine office activities.

Despite the many interruptions and the heavy work load, we constantly strive to be as helpful as possible to each department with a view to improving service for the users of our library.

Ann Komorech, Secretary to the Librarian

COMMUNITY INFORMATION. For the purpose of providing improved service to library users, Community Information has attempted, initially, to assist in keeping the channels of communications open within the library.

Opportunities have been welcomed to work with the Staff, the Board and the Friends of the Library in whatever ways seemed to offer promise.

Excellence breeds excellence, so our superiority affords an imperative reason to seek improvement.

For the purpose of encouraging greater and more varied use of library services, book-and-service-oriented spots have been aired on two radio and two television stations on an around-the-calendar basis.

The Staff In-Service training groups have gathered momentum from the Staff Institute, October 12, 1964. Some of the groups have taken a realistic approach to the problems of communication.

The day-to-day work of the department, as related to communication, can be summarized as follows: 522 book-oriented spots and 19 general spots written and scripted for radio and television, the planning of the initial appearances and format for "Talking About Books" (TV), continued implementation of the five-public library sponsorship of "The Open Book," recording for "Decatur Reads," publication of "Beyond the Four Walls" in Illinois Libraries (February, 1965), service on one committee each of the American Library Association and the Illinois Library Association, edited the bulletin, "Decatur Reads," and Inter-Comm, involved in all of the Self-Study groups, chaired the International Fair and assisted with the budget presentation. The preceeding are some of the tangibles; it is possible that some of the intangibles are of greater importance.

Edith McNabb
Head of Community Information

TECHNICAL PROCESSES. Every effort has been made to maintain a high standard of service during the past year. Cooperation with other work areas and agencies, as well as participation in library and professional activities, has been emphasized and is now reported.

10,841 books were ordered, cataloged, classified, processed and added to the book collection. Of these books, more than one third (4,813) were new titles. Fewer recordings were added this year due both to lack of funds and to lack of storage space.

6 Books no longer useful to us were sent to Menard Prison Library and to elementary, junior and senior high schools in the southern mountain regions of Tennessee and Kentucky. Old government documents were shipped to university libraries in the state according to procedures outlined by the U.S. Superintendent of Documents and the State Libraries.

627 books and 18 periodicals were sent to the bindery. 178 paperback books were permabound. Approximately 2,000 books were re-cataloged.

The original office of the Librarian was transformed into a room for old, rare, curious, or autographed books which the library has accumulated over the years. The pamphlets which related to Lincoln, early Decatur, and Illinois were placed in a metal filing cabinet in the same room. Many of the books were typical of the libraries in early Decatur 1830-1880.

BOOK SELECTION. The chief of technical processes is chairman of the adult book selection committee. This committee has met for 2 - 4 hours once a week during the year. Department heads, as well as the head of Rolling Prairie Libraries Book-mobile, serve.

The success of this system of book selection depends on the amount and quality of preparation each member makes before presenting his recommendations to the committee.

The contents of more than a dozen weekly, bimonthly, and monthly book reviewing publications, and two monthly record reviewing magazines are considered and discussed at each session. In addition, the members have examined many special lists and several long subject bibliographies, in the fields of history, science, psychology, and social science.

Several publishers send their books to the library for approval. This year the Chilton publications and all Doubleday adult books were received for examination and review.

The book stock of the entire library now numbers approximately 167,000 volumes.

Marjorie Stafford
Chief Technical Processes

CENTRAL PUBLIC SERVICES. The crowded conditions at the library are not conducive to study. With the tables and chairs filled in both the reference and youth rooms, patrons have gone into the reading rooms and stacks in increasing numbers, while others have left due to the lack of a place to study; materials needed were not available, or the reader printers were all in use.

In spite of all the difficulties encountered in all the public service areas, this has been a productive year.

8 A careful check of the complaints reveals that most of the difficulties have arisen from lack of staff. Considering the unusual amount of illness, skeleton staff, many of whom were working at unaccustomed posts, and the overcrowding of the building at certain hours, the year has been successful beyond reasonable expectation, and much credit goes to those staff members who did their best under trying circumstances.

The pages this year were an unusually good group; the addition of a full-time page was decidedly helpful.

In previous years a complete record was kept of all information and reference questions from patrons calling in person or by telephone. This year the record is incomplete due to the pressures inherent in under-staffing.

New plans for the Main Library and everyday service of the library lead us to look forward to the new fiscal year with anticipation of improvement.

Nellie McNabb
Chief of Central Public Services

MIDHALL. The lower level in the library is called Midhall. Here the books are discharged and checked for condition. The space around the book slide has been improved by adding a new sliding chair and a tub file for the data cards. This new file holds the data cards tight, flat and makes them more convenient.

Here also the overdue books are collected for fine notices and cleared. Books in need of mending, on reserve, or problems in circulation are given careful consideration away from the public service area.

After being discharged the books are sorted, cleaned or repaired and returned to the Main floor for shelving.

This is one of the most crowded areas in the Main Library. Further consolidation and addition of equipment will improve the situation.

Janet Askins
Clerical Assistant

HOSPITAL AND HOME SERVICE. Eight of the fifty persons now receiving home service have been patrons of this department since 1958. Home service is provided by the library to shut-ins who are unable to come to the library and have no one to come for them.

The patients in three Decatur hospitals: Decatur and Macon County, St. Mary's, and the T.B. Sanitorium also receive service once a week. At St. Mary's there is a beautiful library room which the public library has stocked with books.

Books from all categories have been popular with the patrons of Home Service and the Hospitals. In the non-fiction field the emphasis has perhaps been in religion, travel, biography, and autobiography. Historical fiction, light reading, mysteries, and westerns are popular.

Sally Stuke
Head of Hospital and Home Service

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT. Increased use of the large collection of telephone directories and the increased number of microprints made for patrons has characterized reference service during 1964/65.

The local history file has a new addition: - an index of the Decatur and Macon County newspaper articles written by Otto Kyle, compiled by the Herald and Review Library.

Sources for the 186 inter-library loans have included Dallas, Texas Public Library; Goshen College; Indiana, Pennsylvania County seats; and many Ohio and Indiana town libraries. Genealogies were very popular due to the new society in Decatur which met in the library each month.

The department received 1,560 government documents during the year of which the weather bureau, office of education, agriculture and census bureau publications were used more than other subject areas.

If one were to attempt to describe the service given by this department, he would necessarily name as characterizing it the heavy telephone and directory service given both to businesses and to individuals, and the heavy student use of reference materials.

Edna Jones
Head of Reference Department

READER'S ADVISOR. It is the responsibility of the Reader's Advisor to keep informed regarding all of the new books bought for the library.

The Sunday booklists published in the local newspaper are kept and indexed for future reference. Each year the issues are bound for permanent use.

Reading guidance is the key to work of the Reader's Advisor. Persons wanting to initiate action for community projects often begin with background reading in the subject. Program planning with individuals has opened new vistas for the planners.

Walking through the stack aisles with patrons points up the need for a new building. The glass walkways are narrow with low overhead lights.

There were 37,219 reader's advisor questions asked and answered throughout all of the agencies in the library during 1964/65.

Hattie Houck
Reader's Advisor

ADULT CIRCULATION DESK - MAIN LIBRARY.
Despite the reciprocal card agreement between members of the Rolling Prairie Libraries, out-of-town young people's registrations have decreased. Students are encouraged to register in their own communities and it can be assumed this is what they are doing.

Notices are sent to patrons after the book is three weeks overdue rather than the two week lapse formerly used. The number of notices has dropped thus saving postage. The administration felt justified in extending the period one week because the record of date due contained in the book is clear and because the responsibility for keeping track of the book is primarily the patron's. During 1964/65, 9,071 notices were sent for 13,870 overdue books.

Reserves are watched more closely than before. A special board with pockets for each reserve is posted back of the circulation desk and the staff is able to check this frequently to become familiar with the books placed on reserve.

Opal Honnold
Head of Circulation Desk

MAGIC CARPET ROOM - CHILDREN'S SERVICES.

A child listens. A child reads. He participates in the library program individually or as part of a group. His imagination is stimulated through pictures and printed words. He is nurtured by knowledge and he finds a whole new world opening before him.

To this child, reading is sharing time, reading is growing time and reading is an achievement time with books from the Magic Carpet Room.

The most read titles were "Robert, the Rose Horse" by Joan Heilbroner, "Henry and the Club House" by Beverly Cleary, and "Birds" by Herbert Zim.

Walter de la Mare once said, "I know well that the only rarest kind of best in anything can be good enough for the young."

The Summer Reading Program is planned to encourage the children to continue their reading during the summer months. July and August have been months with very high circulation counts. Last June was the highest month since 1933.

The Junior Great Books groups completed the seventh year. So far 369 sixth graders have participated in a group during the seven years. Twenty community leaders have given their time to lead a Junior Great Books Group.

Parochial school teachers, teachers with special classes and troop leaders took the most interest in visits to the library.

One thing still remains unchanged and unchallenged: to give better service to children.

Catherine Yamamoto
Chief Children's Services

EXTENSION DIVISION. School assignments made for masses of students have created problems this year as they have in past years. In order to fill as many requests as possible, the Extension book collection has been increased. Therefore, as far as shelving space is concerned, the Evans and Dill branches have reached the saturation point.

In order to achieve a balanced selection of books for children, frequent exchange of collections is made.

There have been changes in the programs for the children. The boys and girls have continued their annual visits by classes or groups. Evans Branch discontinued the story hour for preschool children and the older children. The film program is given regularly once a month. December 9, 1964 the children at Dill and Evans trimmed the Christmas trees. The summer reading program has continued throughout the whole of Extension.

Mildred Leonard
Chief of Extension Division

DILL BRANCH LIBRARY. This little branch is doing distinguished work with the community immediately surrounding it. An increasing number of adults are using the library and more students are coming for reference and study.

Eight classes visited the library with a total of 230 students. There have been two preschool story hours with 45 children present.

Last summer the reading program was followed closely by 112 children who read 840 books.

Dill Branch is an example of what can be done in a small space to bring library services to a rapidly expanding community; however, the time has come to add space to this branch, in order to increase the book stock and provide facilities for study.

Ora Ruedger
Branch Librarian

BOOKMOBILE SERVICE. During the year two new stops on alternate weeks were placed in out-lying areas; this was an experiment in providing additional coverage. Stop No. 510 at 31st Street and Garfield Avenue is much appreciated by the students at Orville Spencer School. The alternate stop No. 509 at North Fork and Country Club Road is patronized during the evening hours.

After many years of service to Oakland and Dennis School districts, the McClellan Street stop was discontinued; however there are three stops on the West side of town: Linden, the Plaza, and Forest and Lincoln.

The heaviest use is at the South Shores stop on the parking lot of Mt. Calvary Church. A half day was added to this stop in order to divide the crowd over a longer period. The next most popular stop is the one at North Summit and Grand Streets on the Christ Methodist Church Lot.

A branch is certainly indicated for the South Shores area. It is hoped that some arrangement similar to the Dill Branch may be made in the near future.

It was on this busy location that the old No. 2 bookmobile stopped functioning and had to be towed in to the garage. Since that time the old Ford bookmobile has been put into use. Now it has been replaced by a bookmobile loaned to Decatur by the Illinois State Library, until we can solve our present problems.

George Kidd
Supervisor of Bookmobiles

ROLLING PRAIRIE LIBRARIES SYSTEM. This new unit of service with headquarters in Decatur is a pioneer in the development of regional library systems in Illinois.

On October 15, 1964 the new system began serving the Decatur Public Library, the Friend's Creek Township Library in Argenta, the Illiopolis Public Library, the Marrowbone Township Library at Bethany, and the V. Warner Public Library in Clinton.

Services have included a 400 rotating inventory of books for each library, a record collection, a framed print collection, central book purchasing, a sheaf catalog of books, reciprocal card agreement, inter-library loans, advisory services from Decatur's Staff, and uniform registration and book circulation routines.

On April 22, 1965 the system began giving direct service to the patrons of the Mt. Zion Community through the Rolling Prairie Bookmobile.

The system is governed by an Advisory Council consisting of one representative from each library served. Mrs. Isaac Loose of Illiopolis is the president.

The staff is supervised by Mrs. Mary T. Howe, as director of the unit, with Mrs. Margaret Griffin in charge of operations, Mr. John Redden as clerk-driver, and Mrs. Carolyn Bradshaw as office clerk. Recently, Mr. James Montedonico has been appointed the Librarian of the Rolling Prairie Libraries System.

b	If you have hired a library school graduate (5th year degree without experience) in the reporting year, please indicate his annual salary		$
	If none hired, please check here ☒

¹ PROFESSIONAL BUDGETED POSITIONS - Item C1a - A professional staff member is a person performing work that requires education, training, and skill in the theoretical or scientific aspects of library work as distinct from its merely mechanical and clerical aspects.

² STAFF POSITIONS BY FULL-TIME EQUIVALENTS - Item C1 - To compute "full-time equivalents (FTE)" of part-time personnel, add the total number of hours worked per week by all part-time paid personnel (including student assistants and pages), and divide by the number of hours in your full-time week. DO NOT include volunteer personnel.

EXAMPLE: 4 employees each worked 20 hours per week - 80 hours
2 employees each worked 10 hours per week - 20 hours
6 employees worked a total of 100 hours

One hundred hours divided by 40 hours (or the number of hours in your full-time work week) equals 2 1/2 full-time equivalents. Add these 2 1/2 full-time equivalents to the number of full-time personnel to obtain TOTAL personnel in full-time equivalents.

CITY OF DECATUR

MUNICIPAL BUILDING DECATUR, ILLINOIS

May 10, 1965

Mr. Francis H. Hart, President,
Board of Directors,
Decatur Public Library,
457 N. Main Street,
Decatur, Illinois.

Dear Sir:

This is to acknowledge your letter of May 4, 1965, wherein you indicate the Board of Directors of the Decatur Public Library would like the Department of Planning and Development to complete a Library Facility Needs Study similar to the ones completed for the Decatur Public Schools and Decatur Park District.

I am pleased to advise you that this request will be considered at the next meeting of the Planning Commission. Their recommendation will then be acted upon by the City Council.

When approved by the City Council, the Planning Staff will set forth a detailed schedule of work. We will keep you advised of developments and are pleased to be of service to the Library.

Very truly yours,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "John E. Dever", is written over a large, stylized, and somewhat abstract scribble or flourish.

John E. Dever,
City Manager.
